A PARTIAL CRITIC.

"O little girl, whose twenty years
Make you seem none the older
Since that spring day when love's glad tears
Bade bashfulness be bolder.
Tell me, and have you grown more wise,
Or any more discerning,
Or are you more inclined to prize
The benefits of learning?"

This to my love—a birthday rhyme—
I gave when she was twenty.
Her little head up to that time
I'd filled with books in plenty;
I'd offered Thackeray and Scott,
Shakespeare, and some of Milton,
To show her in a measure what
An education's built on.

I'd offered Wordsworth—not too much—
Keats all, and bites of Shelley;
In Browning, whom I didn't touch,
I feared a cassus belli;
I'd offered Tennyson and some
Of Swinburne, that would go well
As pipe with my selections from
Longfellow, Holmes, and Lowell.

And now, the fruitful year at end,
The ripe result I sought for,
And wondered if her world would lend
The wisdom that I thought for.
Alas!—Yet I confess it fell
Like "Paid" upon a debtor—
Said she, "I liked them very well;
I like what you write better."

—P. MEDERST, in Harper's Magazine.

PENCILINGS.

The Van. pay car paid Tuesday.

The Salvation Army still holds forth.

Boom the town while the gas well goes down.

Fishing is reported good in Walnut this year.

We will bore another gas well. The third time is the charm.

The wheat crop will be larger than last year. An early harvest is looked for.

The Bloomington people have abandoned their gas well and are boring another.

The uniformed rank of the K. of P. will drill "on the turf" of the East Campus of the college this evening.

The semi-annual election of officers of the Knights of Pythias lodge will occur tomorrow evening. A full attendance is desired.

Dr. G. W. Bainum has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Presbyterian church. The members of the church will take action on the matter the first Sunday in July. If accepted the resignation will take effect September 1.

On the door of a little sod shanty in Buffalo county, Dakota, was posted the following: "50 miles to a post office, 75 miles to the county seat, 100 miles to a railroad, 6 inches to h—l and 250 feet to water. God bless our home. Gone to spend the winter with wife's folks."—[Ex.]

The July Wide Awake has many strong, timely features, notably two especially American. One is Miss Seward's "Fourth of July at Robert College"—the American college in Constantinople, a seed-bed of American ideas in Europe; the other is Mrs. Burton Harrison's "The Republican Court," in which she gives portraits and charming little biographies of eighteen of the prominent young society women who were in General Washington's circle of friends, Mrs. Washington herself leading the train.

Mr. Justice Miller of the Supreme Court of the United States engages in the important work of "explaining America to Americans and to the world," by describing "The State of Iowa" in the July number of Harper's Magazine. The article is marred by the absence of any allusion to one of the most eminent citizens of the State and country. George Willard Curtis, however, supplies the unavoidable omission by a graceful tribute to Mr. Miller in the "Easy Chair."

Through the persistent efforts of F. C. Fargo, the manager of the American Express Co., a special express train is now running on the L. N. & C. road. It starts ahead of the regular night train from Louisville and gathers up express matter of all kinds for all points along the line. The train makes extraordinary time and will be a special favor to fruit dealers. Mr. Fargo states that the crop of raspberries and blackberries is enormous and that along the Ohio river farmers are knocking off the peaches so that the trees will not break down before the fruit ripens.

SIGNED, SEALED AND DELIVERED.

A Third Attempt for Gas or Oil Assured for Greencastle.

We are going to bore another well. Thanks to the energy of Messrs. Blake, Bridges & Co., we will make one more effort. The contract was signed Tuesday, the contractor has been here, the ground was looked over, and the tools are on the way here.

There is a sort of a business like flavor about this effort for gas that betokens success.

Tuesday the directors of the new company spent nearly the entire day in fixing up the terms of the agreement by which the contractor will begin his work. It was nearly four o'clock when the document was in shape and the name of J. P. Miller, contractor, was written across the page.

Mr. Miller is a large contractor of wells, has over seventy men in his employ, and has been in the business for upwards of twenty years. He especially promised the directors that he would send the best kind of workmen here so there would be no waste of time by breakage of machinery. He also took stock in the company to the extent of $100.

The contract was let at a lower figure than the other wells here and will be paid for as measured by a pole. There will be no slack rope measurements in well No. 3. The company propose going down twenty-five hundred feet provided nothing is struck at a shorter depth.

The well will be located on the old Stevenson farm east of the city, and work will be begun just as soon as the machinery arrives, which will be by Sunday next at the farthest.

Bainbridge Will Celebrate.

Bainbridge, the Monroe township capital, is the nerviest town in the county at present.

They will tackle the Fourth of July this year and promise to make the eagle scream.

Ed Hibbet and others were in the city yesterday, had their bills printed and were making arrangements to celebrate the National day. They will give $25 to the best brass band in a tournament confined to Putnam County. The Greencastle band is justly barred from the contest as it is of course the best band. There will be speaking by E. T. Lane, Hon. P. O. Colliver, F. D. Ader, A. E. Kelly and Miss Sidelia Star. They will have horse racing and foot racing. The cannon will roar etc.

A Water Trip.

Guy Walker and Dan McDougal will start to-morrow on a water voyage to Spencer, Indiana.

They have constructed two boats, each eleven feet long, in which they will take themselves and baggage. The boats are built on a system of their own and are models of workmanship. They weigh but fifty pounds and ride the water splendidly. The navigators will go down Big Walnut to White River and then paddle up to Spencer. They expect to make the trip in about ten days. As they both went over the same route last year, they are pretty sure to come out O. K.

I. O. O. F. Notes.

The daughters of Rebecca held their election last Monday evening. Mrs. Dr. Hanna, was elected N. G. Mrs. Hatfield, V. G. Miss Rosa Kahn, secretary and Mrs. Dr. Morrison, treasurer. The new officers will be publicly installed Monday evening, August 1st. Miss Clara Fussler was elected District Deputy.

The Canton elected the following officers: C. E. Walls, Captain; Chas. Meltzer, First Lieutenant; James Hurley, Second Lieutenant; Ed. Ackerman, Treasurer, and J. Meikel, Clerk. Some twenty-five have entered the list.

The City Teachers.

The School Board met Monday evening and elected the list of teachers to serve during the coming year. They are as follows:

R. A. Ogg, Superintendent.
First Ward—Miss Emma Jones, Principal, Misses Alice Talbott, Dell Miller, Addie S. Beck, Maggie Pyles, Lizzie Huber.
Second Ward—Miss Alice Ronick, Principal, Misses Claire Florer, Edna Ridpath.
Third Ward—Miss Rebecca Hanna, Principal, Misses Anna Stone, Lillian Southard, Ida Black, Bessie Hammond.
High School—Miss Martha Ridpath, Principal, Miss Edistina Farrow and Mr. John F. Clearwaters, assistants.
Colored School—W. F. Tiester, Principal, Mrs. M. A. Tiester, assistant.

"Dandy Pat."

We have felt it in our bones that sooner or later Greencastle would bob to the front in the Cronin murder mystery at Chicago, and it seems that Pat Donohue, the versatile Irish peddler, is the lucky man. Mr. Donohue was in Frankfort selling his piece goods, when he was spotted by the sick officers up there, who suspected him of being the man Cooney, who is badly wanted by the Chicago police. Pat was arrested and put in jail, and the Chicago chief of police notified that they had the right man. A delegation of officers were sent down from the windy city, and Pat was thoroughly overhauled and his pedigree industriously examined. He was released after a day in jail, but in that short time he had gained a national notoriety.

Pat is a good talker, and it doesn't take him long to make an impression in any community. We venture to say he exercised his talking ability at a great speed during his arrest. The following from the daily papers of Tuesday give the closing chapter of Pat's experience:

WAS NOT THE MAN.

FRANKFORT, Ind., June 24.—Capt. Schuetter and Frank Scanlan arrived here at 8:15 a. m., from Chicago, and Mr. Scanlan at once decided that the suspect arrested at this place was not Cooney. He admitted, however, that the resemblance was striking. The man turns out to be Patrick Donahue, of Greencastle. He is an intelligent Irishman, and is a member of the Land League, but not of the Clan-na-Gael. He is an enthusiastic liberal and a strong admirer of Dr. Cronin, whom he claims to have met frequently. He has been set at liberty.

City Council.

The common council met last Tuesday evening, absent Hanley.

Treasurer's report for May was found correct by the finance committee.

Tax refunded to E. E. Barnaby $43.93, and Cornelius Mahoney $116, erroneously assessed.

Street committee recommended improvement of Columbia street from Jackson to Gillespie streets, by such grading as may be found necessary, by McAdamizing, guttering and sidewalks of brick or stone.

City clerk presented the assessor's return for 1889 showing the total assessment on real estate and improvements to be $1,280,673; personal property $1,018,754; total $2,299,447. Total increase over last year $115,823. Total increase on polls 37. Mr. Skelton's report is the most complete assessment list ever made in the city.

Meat inspector Hawkins' bond was approved.

Councilmen Hanley and Hays from the third and first wards resigned their seats.

Special election was ordered for June 8, to fill the unexpired terms of retiring councilmen Hays and Hanley.

Death of Whitney O'Hair.

Whitney O'Hair died Monday, June 24, at his residence in North Greencastle, of liver trouble. Mr. O'Hair was born June 29, 1849 and lacked but a few days of completing his 40th year. He moved to Greencastle with his family from Paris, Ill., some three years ago. He leaves a widow and three children to mourn his loss. His father and mother, of Paris, and other relatives were over to the funeral which occurred Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Hurlestone and Elder O. P. Badger conducting the services.

A New Story.

Beginning next week the TIMES will publish a short serial entitled "Winning a Wife" or "How a Yankee Soldier Captured a Southern Bride." It is taken from the National Tribune, and was written by a Putnam County veteran of the late war. See the opening chapter next week.

For the Sandwich Islands.

Prof. O. P. Jenkins left last Saturday for the Sandwich Islands, to be gone all summer. He was accompanied by G. C. Price and Oscar Vaught. They will procure specimens of the fish in that country. Prof. Jenkins goes in the interest of DePauw University, Smithsonian Institute and the State University.

FIRST ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT.

Of the St. Paul's Academy in the Opera House Tuesday Evening.

All day long Tuesday crowds of friends of the pupils and graduates of St. Paul's academy thronged the halls of the main building and examined the display of fine painting and needle work. The two east rooms were entirely filled with oil paintings, scroll work and needle work, and the display was an excellent one. The sisters took a special delight in explaining their system of work to the visitors. Some of the large oil paintings would do credit to more pretentious artists.

In the evening in the opera house occurred the commencement exercises. The stage was handsomely decorated and a motto "knowledge and virtue" was suspended from the arch of the stage. The exercises began with the opening address by Miss Katie O'Brien, after which the chorus sang "All Hail This Month Of June" forming the letters of the word June by counter-marching. It was a pretty effect. Three pianos were on the stage, and several numbers were successfully rendered upon them by the music students. Those who took part in the musical program, were Misses Rowlinson, McHaffie, Kelly, Maloney, Murphy, Nelan, Smythe, McAlinden, Grubb and Martin. Miss May Lewis recited Little Mischief, and The Little Shaking Quakers made quite a hit, meeting with an encore. "Mary Queen of Scots" was recited by Misses A. Young, N. Crawley, B. Cannon and G. Smythe. "The Venturesome P'light of an Ambitious Boy" as transposed and arranged by the graduates, was recited by Misses P. Blake, A. O'Brien, T. McAlinden, L. Ball, M. Murphy, M. McHaffie, A. Nelan and M. McAlinden. Miss Maloney recited "Minstrel's Curse."

The following are the graduates and their subjects, Honors graduate were conferred upon them:

Miss Rose McAlinden, "Not Till the Hours of Light Return, All we Have Built, do we Discern." Miss Kate O'Brien, "Blessing Brighten as they Take Their Flight." Miss May Ackerman, "There are no Shadows where there is no Sun, And all Things in Two Lines of Glory Run." Miss Annie Murphy, "Eternity Hideth Behind an Hour." Miss Nellie O'Connell, "The Sea Looks wide Because the Shore is Dim." Miss Jennie Maloney, "There is not a String Entuned to Mirth, But has its Chord in Melancholy." Miss Aggie Kelly, "A Down Life's Stream to-night in Memory's Bark we Glide." (Valedictory.)

The young ladies all did splendidly, and the large audience were well pleased with the successful close of the years work in the academy.

The Chicago Herald recently gave an account of the "Rookery Building" in that city, which is said to be the greatest office building in the world. In size it is 178x166 feet, 160 feet high, contains 1313 windows and gives quarters to 500 firms that do an aggregate business of 500 millions a year. It costs $12,000 just for coal to heat and light it each year and $50,000 to pay salaries of employees. But the annual rent roll amounts to the enormous sum of $400,000, so that there is a fair surplus even after expenses are paid. Three letter carriers find their whole employment in carrying the mail to and from this building, and the power of 1,000 horses is required for steam heating and running the elevators. It is hard to realize that a single building should house such enormous interests. The fact is only an illustration of the incredible concentration of great cities. —Lafayette Leader.

The Carbon Murder.

Conrad Bauman, a tavern keeper, of Carbon, just over the Clay county line on the I. & St. L., shot his wife last Thursday and then killed himself. He accused his wife of infidelity and killed her through jealousy. He was forty years of age and was well thought of. His wife was twenty years old. Both died instantly.

Half Fare on the Van.

The Vandalia will sell tickets between all stations at one fare for the round trip July 3 and 4, good returning July 5.

The Meat Inspector.

Dr. Hawkins is now busily engaged in inspecting the stock to be slaughtered by the butchers of the city. It is their duty to notify him when they are ready to kill, and he then goes to the slaughter house and issues them a permit, if their stock is found to be correct. One of the leading butchers, in talking with the TIMES yesterday, said, taking his last year's business as a basis, the new law would cost him $300 per year. He said the other three butchers all killed more stock than he, and by his figuring, the meat inspector holds the fattest office in the city. The butcher claims that he will make $1,200 per year out of his position, but a more conservative figure places the amount at $1,000, which is about correct. The butchers pay the bill, settling with the inspector every Saturday night. The inspector is allowed 30 cents per head on beeves over two years old, and for younger cattle and hogs and sheep the fee is 20 cents per head.

In some cities the butchers are combining and are going to fight the law.

One Day Only.

We take pleasure in reminding our readers that Dr. H. F. Rorick, of New York, well and favorably known in this vicinity will again visit Greencastle where he may be consulted free, at the Commercial Hotel on Friday June 28, 1889.

The doctor's fast increasing reputation in his treatment of chronic diseases, also diseases of the eye and ear is being well earned, and we advise the affected, no matter what your disease, to consult him at once as his stay here is limited to one day only. By his extraordinary success in his practice, he has made a host of friends among those who have been recipients of his eminent services, and many are anxiously awaiting the date of his visit here to consult him.

The doctor's visits do not interfere with the practice of the local physicians, his practice being confined to such cases as local physicians have failed to cure. Socially the doctor is a gentleman, inviting confidence by his courteous address and amiable manners which combined with natural abilities, place him far above would be competitors in his profession.

Losses at Johnstown.

Estimates on the Houses and Furniture Destroyed.

THE FIGURES PUT AT $5,500,000.

They Do Not Include the Destruction of Store Stocks, Nor the Losses of the Mills—Plans of the Pittsburgh Committee for Rebuilding the Town—Ghastly and Awful Exposures Made by the Dynamite—The Physicians Declare That the Dead Number 10,000.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 24.—The Pittsburgh members of the relief commission took a look over the grounds yesterday. They have been not a little amused at the exaggerated reports of losses caused to real and personal property by the flood. A Pittsburgh paper yesterday published a statement that the losses would run from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. This statement set the commission at work figuring on the matter, and the result is summarized as follows:

Half a Million for Furniture.

"According to the estimate of James McMillan, Cyrus Elder, and other leading business men of Johnstown the aggregate loss of houses was about 1,800. This includes the losses in the Conemaugh valley. In figuring up what it requires to furnish a house including all necessary articles, but of course without throwing in any frills, it takes about $50, exclusive of carpets. But for the sake of argument and computation, let us say that these 1,800 houses would require $200 each to furnish them, or $360,000, but to give all the margin necessary let us call it $500,000. So much for the furniture.

$5,000,000 Figured for Houses.

"Now the average cost of replacing these 1,800 houses would not be over $2,000 each, $3,600,000, and again to give a margin to these figures let us put this at $5,000,000, plus the $500,000 for loss of furniture and you have nearly what the aggregate cost of the flood is. Of course these figures do not include the losses of the Pennsylvania railroad or the Cambria Iron company, but we have nothing to do with them.

The Facts Are Bad Enough.

From this it will be seen that the real estimate will not reach 25 per cent. of the amount published this morning. We very much doubt if the assessed valuation of all the property in Cambria county is $20,000,000; we will go further, we very much doubt if Cambria county is worth $20,000,000. However, it is bad enough, and the necessities of the people must be looked to and alleviated at the earliest possible moment. How is this to be done? Let us figure.

The Wherewithal in Sight.

"When Governor Beaver pays back to Pittsburgh the $120,000 advanced from the relief fund to pay off the laborers under the volunteer system, Pittsburgh will have about $700,000 with which to go to work to relieve the wants of the people. By relief now we mean giving them houses and fitting them up for them. This is what we propose to do. In addition to this $700,000 there is probably $500,000 in Philadelphia. Governor Beaver has in his hands a like sum, Mayor Grant, of New York, has over $300,000. The people of Johnstown themselves have $150,000, and there are other large sums in the hands of the heads of municipalities throughout the country which are available at any moment a requisition is made for them.

Plans for Rebuilding.

"Now, as to rebuilding and furnishing houses for the people. Pittsburgh has ordered 100 houses at $100 each with furnishings at $50 each. Governor Beaver has ordered 100 houses at $200 each, 100 others at $125 each, and there will be 100 stores put up on the public square at a cost of $250 each. The cost of the erection and furnishing of these houses will of course come out of the funds already named. Now what will these buildings aggregate? One hundred houses at $100 each will cost $10,000; their furnishings will cost $5,000 additional. One hundred houses ordered at $200 each will cost $20,000, with $5,000 more for their furniture; and 100 houses at $125 each, with same furnishings, $17,500.

Cost of the Proposed Scheme.

"This will make $57,000 for the erection and furnishing of 300 houses. There yet remains 1,500 houses to be supplied. To do this will cost $225,000, with $75,000 for furniture. These figures show that it will cost about $300,000 in round numbers to do this building; but it will be found that a great many of the citizens will want to put up their own buildings, and this of course will lighten up the expenses of the general relief committee materially. But to be liberal let us say that the cost of completing this scheme of rebuilding and furnishing houses will be $500,000. We intend to carry it out on this basis. Of course some people will not be satisfied, but they must remember the circumstances under which the work is being done, and that we are trying to do the greatest good for the greatest number, and in the end all will feel that we have been honest and sincere in our efforts in their behalf.

Cleaning the Streets of Debris.

"We don't believe it will cost over $500,000 to clean up the streets of the city. With a force of 2,000 men at work it will require not more than ten to twelve weeks to finish up the work. It will be seen by these figures that the work of clearing up the streets will fall far below $500,000, not forgetting to include in this the $120,000 put up by the Pittsburgh relief committee to pay off the volunteer force."

A DAY WITH THE WORKERS.

Awful Things Exposed by the Dynamite—Another Estimate of Dead.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 24.—Dynamiting the wreck was vigorously continued Saturday above the bridge. With every shot bodies were found, but they were so much decomposed that identification was almost impossible. The body of a young lady, supposed to be the daughter of John Linton, was recovered Saturday evening.

Born to Instant Death.

One of the sad sights of the day was the recovery of the body of a woman and an infant lying closely together. The mother was badly burned and decomposed. The baby had evidently been born in the water, and was fairly well preserved, as the flames had not reached it. The part of the mother's head that had escaped burning was almost entirely eaten away by worms.

The physicians take decided issue with the recent estimates of loss of life during the flood. At a meeting held Saturday by all the physicians in the district, notes were compared, and it was agreed unanimously that not less than 10,000 perished during those awful hours on Friday, May 31 and Saturday, June 1. The physicians have first class opportunity for a correct judgment, knowing everybody as they do, and some of them differed with the majority only in putting the lost at 12,000.

Report of Bodies Recovered.

One body was recovered Saturday.

day. Two were identified as Miss Hannon and Annie Lenhart. Four bodies were recovered yesterday. The remains of two women and a little girl were found in Stony creek, and the remains of a Chinaman were found in Kernville. The body of one of the women was identified by a letter found in her pocket as the wife of Mr. Clark, a grocer, in Johnstown. The child is believed to be Mrs. Clark's daughter, as they were found lying close together.

FIRE FOLLOWS THE FLOOD.

Johnstown Loses About Thirty Partly Wrecked Buildings.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 25.—It was only due to the direction of the wind that the remains of Johnstown were not entirely wiped out by fire yesterday afternoon. The blaze began at 1 o'clock with the First ward school-house, which stood on the bank of Stony creek. That building stood on the upper side of the dismal waste which the torrent of water swept clear across the town. Close by the school building, all jumbled up together, were about thirty buildings, some of them in a good state of preservation and inhabited. Next to these houses was a street, the only one not yet cleared of debris, and on the opposite side was a wide stretch of ground tightly packed with frame buildings in all manner of decrepit attitudes. Still further above were some of the best preserved buildings in the city.

A Powder Explosion.

Had the wind carried the flames in the opposite direction fire would have destroyed what the flood had left. As it was the fire caused a veritable panic in the immediate neighborhood, as it enveloped one house after another in rapid succession. One of the abandoned houses had been a hardware store and the explosion of a keg of powder in it sent the burning roof flying in fragments, thus increasing the danger.

A Successful Fight.

Men were put to work smothering the bonfires that stretched across the open space with earth, and in this manner cut off the fire's line of communication to the threatened buildings, whose occupants were already removing the remnants of their furniture. This banking the bonfires with earth, and the veering of the wind so that the burning embers were carried into Stony creek, ended the danger in this direction.

Where the Damage Was Done.

On the other side the fire met no opposition until it had reached the ruin-packed street. The militia and a gang of laborers worked hard on clearing the street and then tore down a number of houses on the opposite side. By this time the streams of water from the fire engines had their effect and the fire was under control after burning for two hours, but twenty-five or thirty houses were in ashes.

They Were Ready to Move.

The whole population of the valley turned out to watch the conflagration, and so general became the belief that everything remaining would go up in smoke that in all directions people were loading their effects on wagons preparatory to fleeing to the hills. The money loss will be about $35,000. The fire was caused by three small boys setting fire to a pile of rubbish.

An Explosion in His Valley.

An Italian was arrested in the laborers' camp last evening with a large valise in which was concealed seven one-pound sticks of dynamite stolen from Arthur Kirk, the dynamiter. Loose in the valise with the explosive was found a quantity of knives, forks, spoons, etc., relics of the flood. A local magistrate fined the fellow $5, and confiscated his valise and contents. The soldiers then closed him out of the camp.

Col. Shepherd's Generosity.

Last evening Clara Barton, of the Red Cross society, asked Gen. Hastings for transportation for twenty-five of the more destitute people, largely females, to Asbury Park, N. J., where Col. Elliott F. Shepard, of the Mad and Express has offered to maintain them for a month. Gen. Hastings promptly furnished the tickets.

Relieving the Relief Committee.

A. J. Moxham, general manager of the Johnstown Rail company, gave notice yesterday that after next Saturday the people in his employ will not be on the relief list. This was paralleled by a notification from the East Conemaugh authorities that their people were in no further need of relief.

THEY'RE ALL PLAYING BALL.

The National League Gets to Work for the Pennant.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Following are the League scores on the base ball diamond yesterday: At Chicago—Chicago 13, Philadelphia 15; ten innings; at Cleveland—Cleveland 10, New York 1; at Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh 1, Boston 6; at Indianapolis—Indianapolis 8, Washington 3.

Chicago, June 21.—Anson's colts lost the second game to the Philadelphia club yesterday to the intense disgust of the bleaching boards at the park. League scores were: At Chicago—Philadelphia 5, Chicago 2; at Cleveland—New York 1, Cleveland 0; at Pittsburgh—Boston 2, Pittsburgh 1; at Indianapolis—Washington 4, Indianapolis 6.

Chicago, June 22.—The scores in the ball field made by National league clubs yesterday were: At Chicago—Chicago 3, Philadelphia 2; at Cleveland—Cleveland 6, New York 17; at Indianapolis—Indianapolis 8, Washington 3; Pittsburgh-Boston game postponed—rain.

Following are the scores of the National league clubs Saturday: At Chicago—Philadelphia 1, Chicago 5; at Cleveland—New York 6, Cleveland 8; at Pittsburgh—(first game) Boston 1, Pittsburgh 0; (second game) Boston 4, Pittsburgh 3; at Indianapolis—Washington 3, Indianapolis 10.

OMINOUS OF AN OCEAN DISASTER.

Wreckage Coming Ashore at Vineyard Haven, Massachusetts.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., June 25.—Among wreckage which came ashore yesterday was a life preserver marked "City of Rome," a bundle of women's clothing, wine cards of the Haytian Republic, and a quantity of wood-work. Everything points to a collision between the Victoria and Haytian Republic, but the life preserver from the City of Rome adds to the mystery.

Milwaukee's Postmaster Falls Under the Rod.

THE CIVIL SERVICE BOARD REPORTS

A Number of Flaws in His Reform Methods—A Severe View Taken of His Alleged Evasions of the Law—Several Resignations Called for at the Treasury Department—Report on the Chippewa Outbreak—An Indian Bill to Pay.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—The civil service commission, which has been on a tour of investigation among several of the larger postoffices throughout the west, has returned to the city. Among the postoffices investigated was that at Milwaukee, Wis. It was found that the postmaster at that office had repeatedly violated the civil service law. Commissioner Roosevelt, in speaking of the matter, said that in 1885 the civil service commission gave the postmaster at Milwaukee authority in a special case to draw from his eligible list to fill a lower position.

But He Took Comprehensive.

The postmaster had construed that into a continuous authority, without any shadow of right, and thought he could take any man from the upper list and then gerrymander the lower lists so as to have that man certified to. In one case he even had the board of examiners re-mark a paper, and mark it down, thereby getting one candidate out of the way of another. The commission severely censures this action of Postmaster Paul in their report, which is signed by all the commissioners.

Repeated Violators of the Law.

They say: Having investigated the management of the Milwaukee postoffice, in so far as it is affected by the civil service law, we find that during the past four years the postmaster, Mr. G. H. Paul, has repeatedly violated said law, and in many cases has manipulated the list of eligibles so that the person whom he preferred should be certified to him. Mr. Paul had a very considerable portion of his term to serve we would recommend his immediate removal.

The Official Censure.

But we have determined not to make such recommendation in view of the facts that his term has already expired; that no satisfactory proof has been adduced to show that his action in making appointments was due to political considerations, and that his construction of a letter of the commission written in 1885 may partially excuse a portion of his misconduct. The commission therefore report that Mr. Paul should be, and hereby is, severely censured.

That Chippewa "Outbreak."

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—The adjutant general has received from Capt. Haman, of the Third infantry, through Capt. Stouch of the same regiment, who commanded the battalion sent to quell the Chippewa outbreak in Minnesota, the following explanation of the trouble: "The shooting of the white man was the result of drunkenness. Three families who left the neighborhood of the Indian camp were new arrivals. They were Swedes, and were frightened off by drunken Indians. They went about six miles off. The Indians will deliver up the one who did the shooting, Wadena, as soon as the sheriff comes for him. He will not leave his present whereabouts." He adds that there is no danger of an outbreak, and that the whisky trade is the worst feature of the situation.

Given a Hint to Resign.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—Hugh A. Harolson (a brother-in-law of ex-Governor Gordon), deputy sixth auditor treasury department, and Patrick Cunningham and Isaac C. Peetree, of Ohio; W. E. Dougherty, of Pennsylvania; R. W. Ellis, of Arkansas; T. S. Farrow, of South Carolina; A. S. Howell, of New York; J. M. Leach, Jr., of North Carolina; C. T. Mitchell, of South Carolina, and R. S. Johnson, of Kentucky, chiefs of divisions in the sixth auditor's office, were informed by Sixth Auditor Colter yesterday that their resignations were desired, and that as soon as these were received their successors would be appointed.

A Cooley Commission Decision.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—The interstate commerce commission, yesterday, in an opinion by Chairman Cooley, decided the case of Maj. J. P. Sanger against the Southern Pacific Railroad company, lessee of the Central Pacific railway, and the Union Pacific railway company. The major misdeeds of the station agent and supposed that he would have to buy tickets at each point of departure instead of getting a through ticket at once, thereby costing him much more for the trip. The commission held that the company may lawfully return to the major the overcharge, and recommends that it do so.

Trying to Collect a Little Bill.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—Gabriel Renville, chief of the Sisseton and Wahpeton Indians, had an interview with acting Indian Commissioner Belt yesterday, in which he urged a settlement of back annuities, due the tribe since 1892, amounting to about $350,000. He also urged that the government purchase their surplus land, about 900,000 acres. Mr. Belt favors a commission to ascertain their value.

Burke's Extradition Warrant.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—The president, on his return from Cape May last evening, signed the warrant for the extradition of Martin Burke. Owing to some technical requirements, however, the state's messenger, Mr. Baker, was not able to leave with it last night. The warrant was sent to the state department this morning, and Mr. Baker left with it for Chicago at 11 a. m.

Roman Catholic Knights in Convention.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—The eleventh annual convention of the Roman Catholic union, Knights of St. John, opened here yesterday. About 150 delegates from various cities were in attendance. A parade was held in the afternoon, followed by a competitive drill.

The Turner Festival at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., June 25.—The gymnastic contest of the Turners attracted an immense crowd of people at the Campus yesterday. Beginning 6 a. m. the exercises continued all day. It is estimated that not less than 12,000 people were present. Large classes from Chicago, Philadelphia, New York, St. Louis, Dayton, Pittsburgh and Columbus made a fine appearance.

Death of Judge Leland, of Illinois.

The farmers of southern Indiana have formed a combine to buy goods where the seller will agree to sell at a net profit of 10 per cent., and it is raising Cain with the other merchants. The farmers have the right to examine invoices.

Girls' Birthdays.

An old astrological prediction gives the character of a girl according to the month she is born in, as follows:

If a girl is born in January, she will be a prudent housewife, given to melancholy, but good-tempered, and fond of fine clothes.

If in February, an affectionate wife and tender mother, and devoted to dress.

If in March, a frivolous chatterbox somewhat given to quarrelling, and a connoisseur in gowns and bonnets. If in April, inconstant, not very intelligent, but likely to be good-looking and studious of fashion plates.

If in May, handsome, amiable, and given to style in dress.

If in June, impetuous, will marry early, be frivolous, and like dressy clothes.

If in July, possibly handsome, but with a sulky temper and a penchant for gay attire.

If in August, amiable and practical, likely to marry rich and to dress strikingly.

If in September, discreet, affable, much liked, and a fashionable dresser.

If in October, pretty and coquetish, and devoted to attractive garniture.

If in November, liberal, kind, of a mild disposition, and an admirer of stylish dress.

If in December, well-proportioned, fond of novelty, and extravagant, and a student of dressy effects.—W. H. SIVITER, in Editor's Drawer, Harper's Magazine for July.

Why Should I go to Montana

Great Reservation. Because 18,000,000 acres of Free Government Land, with a delightful climate, and equally suited for general farming and stock raising, have just been opened to the homeseeker, in the Milk River Valley and near Benton and Great Falls.

Stock Raising. Because the favorable climate and superior grasses of Montana make it the natural home of horses, cattle, sheep and other domestic animals; and because winter feeding is not required, as stock ranges at large the year around.

General Farming. Because a rich soil and abundant summer rain produce wheat, oats, and barley, and the great resources of Montana offer exceptional opportunities to the manufacturer.

Immigration. Because the great reservation is now the meeting point of settlers from the Pacific Coast and from the Eastern States, and is the only extensive tract of good land left, suitable for settlement.

Business. Because the rapidly growing towns along the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Great Northern ways offer splendid opportunities to engage in business.

Manufacturer. Because the 1,000,000 horsepower water-power at Great Falls, and the extensive coal veins, the wool, mineral and grain raising resources of Montana offer exceptional opportunities to the manufacturer.

Tourist. Because the canon of the Gates of the Mountains, the Great Falls of the Missouri, the Giant Fountain, and the Continental Divide offer the most sublime and diversified scenery to be found on the continent. Take a summer tour.

A L'EMPIRE.

Rosina, they say, is but just seventeen. Yet she crushed at a blow all the fops of the town.

The very first time she appeared on the scene in something she calls a directory gown.

It is cut in the picturesque fashion of old. With a limp, "ragée" skirt and the scantiest waist.

And wandering over its soft silken fold Are garlands of roses enchantingly traced.

They have faded, perhaps, since the wonderful night When grandmamma danced at the emperor's ball.

A dimpled young beauty who laughed with delight To hear herself whispered the fairest of all.

And fingered her pink flowered frock as she stepped Through gigues and gavottes with a gay cavalier.

Whose passionate vows, never meant to be kept, Fell now and again on her innocent ear.

There's a tiny spot still on the ancient brocade, Where the posy she gave him had lain at her breast.

And there at one side where the satin is frayed The thick jeweled hilt of his sword may have pressed.

But the Prince—ah! Rosina, revenge is so sweet, That, for grandmamma's sake, I am glad you look down.

With scorn on the dandies who sigh at your feet Whenever you wear that directory gown.

—M. E. W., in The Century.

Conductors of Sound.

As a general rule, the greater the density of a substance and the more elasticity it possesses the more perfect is its conductivity of sound; thus it has been found that while sound travels at the rate of 1,125 feet per second in the ordinary atmosphere, it will travel 4,705 feet per second in water. This was proved by experiments in the Lake of Geneva. The traveling power of sound through solid substances may be stated generally to be more rapid than through either air or water. The metals, on account of their elasticity, naturally stand at the head of the list.

The French philosopher, Biot, by means of the empty water pipes of Paris, proved that sound will travel through iron at the rate of 16,822 feet per second, or about fifteen times faster than through air. It has been proved that if a bell be struck in a vacuum in an air pump, no sound whatever can be heard, and that if hydrogen be introduced the sound is hardly perceptible. In fact, hydrogen, which is the most elastic of all gases, is the worst conductor of sound, while iridium, the densest, is the best. This latter is very scarce and consequently difficult to experiment with, so gold and platinum, which are among the densest of bodies, are commonly called the best conductors of sound.—New York Telegram.

Sea Dogs.

We associate this name with those veterans of the merchant service and of the fishing squadrons whose appearance makes picturesque the seaport wharves and landing. If the suggestion of Mr. Wilfred Powell were acted upon, it would give the term a new application and a new meaning. In writing of his explorations among the South Sea Islands, he says: There is a fact well worth mentioning with respect to carrying dogs on board a vessel in these parts otherwise than the mere fact of their use as a watch. It is that they are very sensitive to an approach to land or reefs; and I found that whenever our dogs began to sniff over the side it was a sure sign of there being a reef not far off; and not only that, but they will continue to do this until the danger is a long way off.

They will detect the smell of a reef even at night whilst asleep, and will awake and run to the side of the vessel and whine, so that they are of much use as a lead in other places, for many reefs here are so steep that the lead is no guide.—True Flag.

In Edison's Laboratory.

But I tell you we have lots of fun in the laboratory. Some time ago I had forty-two men working with me on the incandescent lamp in a big building. I hired a German to play an organ for us all night, and we worked by the music. About 1 o'clock a farmer brought in our lunch, and we ate from a long table. At first the boys had some difficulty in keeping awake, and would go to sleep under stairways and in the corners. We employed watchers to bring them out, and in time they got used to it. After awhile I didn't need forty-two of them, and I discharged six of them. Well, do you know, I couldn't drive them away. They stayed there and worked for nothing.

Oh, we enjoy this kind of life! Every now and then I hire a big schooner, and we go down the bay, my men and myself, to fish for a few days. Then we come back and buckle down to it again.—Interview in Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Trying for a Modest Man.

It is awfully trying for a modest, sensitive man to attempt to push up or pull down a car window. The window is certain to stick like death to a deceased African—that is to say, if the man is a sensitive plant; otherwise it will come down like Capt. Crockett's coon or go up like Gilderoy's kite—and he has the extreme felicity of knowing, as the perspiration flows from every pore and the rich blood mingles his face and neck, that everybody in the car is watching him; that everybody is on the point of suggesting how the thing can be done, and that everybody would speak right out if it were not that everybody is on the broad grin, and an attempt to speak would result in a snicker which would spread through the car like Yellow Jack in the tropics.—Boston Transcript.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Conditions Exceedingly Favorable, Though Rains Have Interfered with Harvesting.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The week ending June 22d has been slightly warmer than usual, generally throughout all agricultural regions east of Mississippi, in the central portions of Nebraska and Kansas, and on the north and central Pacific coast. In Texas and thence northward to Minnesota and Dakota the average temperature for the week has been slightly below the normal, except as stated above, in portions of Kansas and Nebraska. The temperature for the season, from Jan. 1 to June 22, differs but slightly from the normal throughout the Southern States and the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. The average daily temperature has been from two to three degrees above the normal in New England and New York, and from Texas northward to Dakota.

There has been an excess of rainfall for the week in the Ohio, central Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, and from the interior of Texas northward to Dakota.

There has been an excess of rainfall for the week in the Ohio, central Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, and from the interior of Texas and Louisiana northward to Missouri and Nebraska. More than the usual amount of rain is also reported from Georgia, Tennessee, Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New York, while well-distributed showers occurred in the South Atlantic States, Virginia, New England, Minnesota and Dakota. The rainfall for the season continues in excess on the Atlantic coast, from New York southward to South Carolina, and from the Missouri Valley southward to the west gulf coast. The large deficiency in rain-fall previously reported from the Ohio valley and Tennessee has been reduced, and at present the rain-fall in this section generally exceeds 70 per cent. of the normal, but in Southern Ohio about 60 per cent. of the usual rainfall has occurred, while in the northern portions of all the States bordering on the Ohio river and in Michigan and Wisconsin over 80 per cent. of the normal rainfall is reported. In northwestern Minnesota and northeastern Dakota, the rain-fall for the season has not exceeded 60 per cent. of the usual rain-fall for that section.

The weather was generally favorable for growing crops in all districts except Tennessee, Mississippi and Texas, where excessive rains caused some damage to wheat and cotton. Reports from these States show that the crops are growing rapidly and becoming grassy. In the spring-wheat region of Minnesota and Dakota all crops were improved by the recent rains. In the principal corn States, including Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, the weather was favorable, and corn has made rapid growth during the week. In Michigan and Ohio the growth of corn has been retarded, owing to the continued wet weather. The harvesting of wheat, barley and clover is in progress so far north as the central portions of Ohio, Indiana and central Illinois, but the work has been retarded by frequent rains, and in some sections harvested crops slightly injured by rains. Reports from Kentucky state that the tobacco crop is excellent. The high temperature and general rains in Louisiana were very favorable, and doubtless greatly improved the corn, cane and rice crops. In the east and central portions of the cotton region all crops were favorably effected; the wheat harvest is about completed and the crop prospects are reported fine. In Pennsylvania the heavy rains were unfavorable for ripening grain and hay harvesting, although the crop conditions are rapidly improving. All crops were improved in New England, New York and New Jersey, although corn is reported as backward in New York. Numerous showers have slightly delayed the harvesting of the heavy hay crop in southern New England and the Middle Atlantic States.

Sounding The Free Trade Slogan.

Those patriotic citizens who voted down the foreign idea of free trade at the late election are not to be permitted peacefully to enjoy the fruits of their victory. Foreign capitalists whose envious eyes have long been fixed upon the American market, and the class of advocates who find it to their interest to aid in bringing about free foreign trade, have already served notice through the Cobden Club annexes, called Tariff Reform Leagues, that the American people labored under the disadvantage of either failing to comprehend the issue before deciding upon it, or ignorance of what was really for their own good. Consequently philanthropic Englishmen and English-loving Americans will at once renew their efforts to spread the gospel according to John Bull. So certain are they of their promises that their line of efforts has been at least partially marked out. Election returns from the agricultural districts contributed quite largely to recent disappointment of those behind the so-called "reform" movement, hence especial attention will be given to demonstrating that the country's phenomenal prosperity under protection is but the piling up of plunder extorted from its farming population. If not a re-issue of that well-worn Cobden Club pamphlet, addressed to "The Western Farmers of America," at least its perversion of fact and pleadings for free foreign trade are to be revived and spread through every available channel. In this American farmers were urged to support a fiscal policy favoring foreign markets, which consume less than eight percent of our farm products, to the detriment of the home market which consumes all the wool and more than ninety per cent. of the grain, meat, fruit, vegetables, etc., raised in the country. All of which is to be repeated with such variations as circumstances and location may suggest as likely to prove most effective.

Farmers are again to be told, and asked to believe, that a tariff imposed upon a yard of imported cloth, or a pound of imported steel, increases by so much the cost of all cloth and steel made and sold in the United States—while the tariff of twenty cents a bushel on wheat, ten cents a bushel on corn, fifteen cents a bushel on potatoes, ten cents a bushel on wool, and four cents a pound on butter, has no influence upon the price of those articles. In short, all the assertions and misrepresentations hitherto employed are to be revived and applied to the conversion of agricultural voters who in the recent election contributed so emphatically to the discomfiture of the Free Trade propaganda. At the same time they are expected to overlook the fact that success of the "tariff reform" they are invited to promote will inevitably force from their present occupation multitudes of workmen now the chief consumers of food products, and that in such event these must not only cease to be purchasers as now, but many of them are likely to become rivals in farming.

It remains to be seen if this renewed attack upon our American system of encouraging the home market meets with any better success than its predecessors.

Primitive Dressmaking.

A few days ago an Oldtown squaw went into an Oldtown drygoods store, where she purchased a cheap dress pattern, together with needles, thread and a thimble. After the purchase she asked to be allowed to go into a rear room to "sew something little," as she expressed it, but the room being occupied she was told to pass up the stairs and into a vacant room. After awhile the saleswoman softly stole up to see what she was about, but as she was seated on the floor and busily engaged in plying a needle she did not disturb her. In one hour she again made her appearance, and to the surprise of all she wore the dress and also a very triumphant air.—Bangor (Me.) Commonwealth.

Strawberries from February to August.

By starting from southern Texas in February, and traveling northward by slow stages into British America, a man might have strawberries every day until the end of August. When rapid transportation is further perfected, he may have them during the same period and stay at home. Railroads have almost annihilated the "fruit season."—Topeka State Journal.

In Berlin heavy wagons are not allowed on certain streets. In Paris any cartload of rattling material must be fastened till it can't rattle.

WEIGHED AND FOUND WANTING.

States That Have Tried and Repudiated Prohibition—They Have Enough of It.

Chicago Tribune.

Illinois enacted prohibition in 1855, but repudiated it at the polls in the same year.

New York passed the law in 1854, tried it for two years, and gave it up as a bad job.

Massachusetts tried prohibition for fifteen years, and repealed it as vain and injurious.

An effort to restore prohibition in Massachusetts was voted down by an overwhelming majority April 22, 1889.

Atlanta tried the law for one year and repudiated it by an overwhelming majority in November, 1887. The injury to the city was incalculable.

Connecticut enacted the law in 1854, tried in vain to enforce it for eighteen years, and then finally repealed it forever in 1872.

Ohio enacted prohibition in 1855, and after a few months of bitter experience repealed it.

Maryland passed a prohibitory law in 1855. The results were so disastrous, both to material and moral welfare, that, after a few months' trial, it was repealed, and the lesson was so severe that the question has never been raised again in that State.

New Hampshire tried prohibition for thirty-four years. April 12, 1889, an effort was made to incorporate it into her Constitution. This was voted down by an enormous majority, only two counties in the State giving a majority in favor of prohibition.

Delaware tried it in 1855, and, after two years, found that it so affected the welfare of the State that it was repealed in 1857.

The Independent Anti-prohibition Republicans and Democrats of Iowa are united for the purpose of overthrowing prohibition.

The law was twice passed in Wisconsin, and twice vetoed by the Governor, with the unanimous support of the people. Since then the State has been untroubled by fanaticism.

Rhode Island enacted prohibition in 1853, and after ten years trial repudiated the law in 1863. She again enacted it last year, and is now trying to get rid of it, after one year of financial and moral disaster. The Legislature has by almost unanimous vote decided to resubmit the matter to the people.

Michigan passed the law in 1853 and kept it for twenty-two years, when, finding the futility of attempting to enforce prohibitory measures, she abandoned it in 1875. The fanatics tried to saddle the law upon her again this year, but her people would not have it, and overwhelmed it at the polls.

Indiana and Nebraska in 1855 passed prohibitory measures, but neither of them kept prohibition upon their statute books for any length of time. Indiana voted on the question again in 1882, and the amendment was defeated by the biggest majority cast in that State for twenty years.

Texas cast 93,000 majority against the effort to force a prohibitory amendment into her Constitution.

An effort was made to force the law on Tennessee in 1887. The people, after a thorough discussion, resolved not to put it into their Constitution.

Oregon submitted the amendment in 1887. The amendment was buried under an avalanche of votes.

In November, 1888, West Virginia voted on prohibition. The question was thoroughly discussed, investigations into the working of the law in other States were made, and the amendment was defeated by a vote of three to one.

Canada has tried prohibition. The law was passed, and on a reconsideration of the question, April 3, 1889, the voters slaughtered prohibition from Lake Erie to the Bay of Fundy. Every city and town in Canada which voted that day repealed prohibition.

In Iowa in 1880 there were 3,034 government licenses issued for the sale of liquor. In 1886, under prohibition, the number had increased to 4,033—an increase of 999. It is not within the limits of reason that any man would pay for a license unless he meant to use it.

For the year ending April 30, 1881, before prohibition, 1,884 government licenses to sell liquor were issued in Kansas. In the year ending April 30, 1887, after five years of prohibition, 2,977 licenses were issued; in other words, there were 58 per cent. more places selling liquor in the year ending April 30, 1887, under prohibition, than in the year ending April 30, 1881, before the enactment of the law. There had simply been a change of name from "saloon" to "drug store."

Maine has more liquor-sellers in proportion to population than many license States. Rhode Island has one liquor-seller to every 243 men. (See Internal Revenue Reports).

A Live Question at The South.

The subject of education, especially the education of the masses, is everywhere a matter of earnest discussion. Teachers, editors, candidates for office, preachers, farmers, mechanics, white and black people, all classes, are discussing the subject. How wide-spread this awakening has been is illustrated by the interest shown in the subject by the country press. When a Southern county town weekly, depending for life chiefly on county advertising, takes an abiding interest in a matter of general concern, it is proof that the people are beginning to be aroused. The South is beginning to awake to the perils that lie but partially concealed in the ignorant classes, both white and black, that make up so large a part of the population. It is time to awake; there is reason to be alarmed when the tenth census reports in the twelve States under consideration in this paper 332,733 white voters and 886,905 negro voters as "unable to write." If in a union of States like ours, which binds all into one, this alarm should not extend to States more fortunate than these twelve Southern States, it would indicate an indifference to common dangers more alarming than ignorance itself.—REV. ARTHUR G. HAYGOOD, D. D., LL. D., in Harper's Magazine for July.

Card Etiquette.

Here are a few points in card etiquette, which it would be well to remember:

The card should be written or printed. Never use a blank card unless Blank happens to be your name.

White cards are considered in the best taste, even in the best colored society.

The gentleman's card should contain nothing except the name and address of the caller. It is bad taste to have one's business written on it, particularly if he be an undertaker and there is sickness in the house.

When calling on any one at a hotel, send your card and await a reply in the reception room. It is not good form to visit the bar more than twice while waiting.

If two or more ladies are in the household, the turning down of a corner signifies that the card is for all the ladies. Turning around a corner immediately after leaving indicates that the caller is thirsty and is looking for a saloon in the vicinity. In leaving the city for a permanent residence abroad it is customary to send out cards to intimate friends, adding the initials P. P. C.—presents parting compliments. It is also a reminder that a berth has been secured in a Pullman palace car.—Texas Siftings.

Mud Throwers.

It was on a Cass avenue car and The Man About Town watched the conductor as he sponged off the flecks of mud from the seats. The streets were not very muddy and there seemed to be an unusual amount of dirt to be cleared off, so he asked the conductor how it happened that the seats were so dirty, and this was the answer he got: "Do you see them little mules? Well, little mules step higher and quicker than big horses, and consequently they scatter more mud in one trip than horses do in three."

Perhaps everybody knows this, but it was news to The Man About Town and he thought as he pinched off a fresh dab of soft mud from the sleeve of his Prince Albert that maybe the car company used little mules which stepped high and quick on purpose to spatter its patrons. The older a man grows the more he finds out.—St. Louis Republic.

The majority in Pennsylvania against Prohibition reaches 190,000.

FORAKER was renominated for Governor by the Republicans of Ohio in convention at Columbus yesterday.

MR. CLEVELAND will doubtless be pleased to learn that some of Indiana's Democratic editors are still "for him."

ALTHOUGH having done much damage to growing crops the great floods of the past month have yielded a magnificent acreage of mosquitoes.

The death of Gen. Simon Cameron removes from the stage of action the most prominent figure in Pennsylvania politics, and one of the old-timers in the battles of Republicanism in the nation.

ALTHOUGH a stranger to its intricacies we have always had an admiration for the game of chess, for the reason that at some stage or other of its proceeding the fellow who is beaten has sense enough to know it and "resigns." The Prohibition party might take a valuable pointer from the game of chess.

For many years past the name of "Pinkerton's men" and the Chicago police have been associated in the provincial mind with an awe-inspiring idea of infallibility. Since the days of Tascott and the Cronin murder, however, this notion has been rudely dealt with, and is threatened with total decay. In fact it would seem that in the Cronin affair there is a conspiracy to mystify matters, and hopelessly muddle such evidence as comes to the surface in spite of the efforts of the detectives.

The manner in which the conquering great Northwest has humbled the pride of the Kentucky blue-grass belt in the matter of horse flesh is sufficient to make the Colonels weep for generations to come. The young Montana horse, Spokane, who came down out of the mountains in the spring an unknown animal, has run away with everything in sight and is king of the turf, leaving Proctor Knott, the former Kentucky king, a reminiscence only.

The Indianapolis Journal should be very modest about the manner in which it talks of "kickers" and the Presidents critics. The fellows throughout the State who are holding the bag will recover their equanimity quicker without any remarks from a paper whose whole force is feeding at the broadest end of the public trough.

Mrs. R. B. HAYES is dead at her home in Fremont, Ohio, the result of a paralytic stroke. While mistress of the White House Mrs. Hayes left her impress upon the social life of the nation by the many rare virtues which she practiced in daily life. A wide circle of former friends in Washington and elsewhere mourn her loss.

It is thought that the differences between the operators and miners in the Clay county coal regions will now be speedily adjusted. The State Board of Charities has taken a hand in the quarrel and has proven itself something of a peace-maker. The trouble has been unduly prolonged by the machinations of politicians.

THE LINCOLN HISTORY.

The Closing Chapters in "The Century." The Great Success of the Serial.

Following upon the July chapters of "The Life of Lincoln"—which as already announced, describe the President's renomination and Mr. Greeley's self-suggested peace trip to Niagara—there will probably be only six more installments of this remarkable history in The Century series. It is said that these concluding chapters deal with the most important and absorbing personal and political topics, to which Messrs. Nicolay and Hay bring a vast fund of special information. Lincoln's sagacity in dealing with men and measures (and occasionally his humor) come out in strong relief in the chapters that give the inside view of the attempt of the radicals to defeat the re-nomination of the President, of the disagreements resulting in Cabinet changes, of Chase's appointment to the chief justiceship, and of the executive dealings with the "copperhead" conspirators at the North. No part of the work will attract wider attention than the account of the measures adopted by the religious denominations in support of the Administration, and of the sympathy and wisdom with which the President met the suggestions of the churches. Of the interest of the last three installments it is only necessary to say that they cover the period from the second inaugural to the death of Lincoln and the collapse of the rebellion.

The publishers announce that the back numbers of The Century from November, 1886, containing the installments of the Lincoln History are now all in print and can be supplied to those who wish to complete their sets. Of several of these numbers two hundred and fifty thousand copies have been printed.

Cough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.

"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hepler, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terre Bonne, La.

"I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy.

For Home Use.

I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.

"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and sound as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

Eastern life is an effective way of saving the minutes of daily life. "I don't care if you do call me 'Miss Nancy,'" said a lady whose sisters were wont to tease him for keeping his books and papers in methodical array. "I gain a good half hour every day by knowing where things are."

A lady who supports herself by doing shopping on commission says that she is exasperated a hundred times a day by the persistence with which people stumble over one another in following the wrong direction.

"I go into a store," she says, "or rather I attempt to go in, some seconds before I am allowed to have my way. There are two doors, and I take the right one, in duty bound. A crowd of people are pushing out that very way, however, and I am obliged to wait until the passage is clear."

"If they had but taken the other door, there would have been an unbroken stream of people entering and issuing, and no one would have been delayed."

"The same thing happens within. In the space between the counters, women push their way in, or that direction, quite forgetting the fact that, if the general tendency of progress were always toward the right, the general confusion would be decidedly lessened."

"I wish the fact might be impressed upon the younger generation, at least, that there is common sense and reason in keeping to the right. Even if we older people cannot practice wisdom, they, at least, should learn by our mistakes."—Youth's Companion.

What Puzzled Mr. Luttrell.

Among the members of the Forty-third congress was Hon. John K. Luttrell, of California. The following story illustrates forcibly the condition of affairs then and the justice of the present demand for a reform in the rules of the house:

"When I came to Washington," said Mr. Luttrell to ex-Senator Nesmith, of Oregon, who was then a member of the house, "I thought I was to be a member of a deliberative assembly of representative peers, each one on an equality with the others, each with equal voice in the proceedings. I find that I am mistaken. It is more like a city in its workings. Here are men engaged in finance; here others engaged in commercial pursuits. There are some who buy and sell, there are others interested in foreign matters. Some are gentlemen of elegant leisure. There are rings and rings within rings. There are business sections, the thickly settled portion and the suburbs."

"As for myself I live in the suburbs, so far from the business center that I may rise in my seat every day from December till July without once catching the speaker's eye. Nesmith, I can take an Indian blanket and completely cover with it the men who shape and control the legislation of the nation within this so called deliberative body."

"Luttrell, you always did have a good deal of a fool in your composition," replied the Oregonian. "Why go to the trouble of obtaining an Indian blanket? Why not get a dinner plate and clap it on the head of the speaker?"—Washington Post.

The Proper Length.

Stephen A. Douglas and Mr. Lovejoy were once gossiping together, when Abraham Lincoln came in. The two men immediately turned their conversation upon the proper length of a man's legs. "Now," said Lovejoy, "Abe's legs are altogether too long, and yours, Douglas, I think, are a little short. Let's ask Abe what he thinks of it." The conversation had been carried on with a view to Lincoln's overhearing it, and they closed it by saying: "Abe, what do you think about it?" Mr. Lincoln had a far away look, as he sat with one leg twisted around the other, but he responded to the question, "Think of what?" "Well, we're talking about the proper length of a man's legs. We think yours are too long and Douglas' too short, and we'd like to know what you think is the proper length." "Well," said Mr. Lincoln, "that's a matter I've never given any thought to, so, of course, I may be mistaken; but my first impression is that a man's legs ought to be long enough to reach from his body to the ground."—San Francisco Argonaut.

"My vrendt, vot is de matter?" asked the merchant in a conciliating tone. "You have no right to call me dose names."

"I haven't! Look at this coat I gave you $8 for. It's all pulling apart, and look at this vest, and these pants. They look like a cyclone had put 'em on to go out west in."

"Und for dot you call me swindler?"

"You bet I do."

An Astonished Italian.

A gentleman at the depot, while watching the departure of a gang of Italians, who were going to work on the Carthage and Adirondack railroad, said: "I was along a portion of that road recently, and a large force of these fellows were blasting out stumps with giant powder. They would punch holes down in the ground under the stumps and put in a quantity of the explosive, then tramp down the ground around it and touch it off with a fuse. Five or six stumps would be prepared, all of the workmen but one would retire several hundred feet to a safe place, and that one would set the fuses of all the stumps on fire and then run for safety behind some tree or stump. There was a place where there were five stumps in a clump. Four of them were loaded for blasting and the fifth one left for the man who set the fuses to run behind."

"In setting the fuses the Italian got mixed up. It is a confusing business, and he had to do it in a hurry. He laid down behind one of the stumps that was 'loaded.' No one could warn him. A moment of suspense and the explosion came. Dirt, stones, water, roots and Italian went high into the air. One after another the other three exploded, and when danger was passed we ran forward, expecting to see his mangled remains. He sat in the cavity caused by the uplifting of the stump he had lain behind, worming the dirt out of his ears, stupefied but unhurt. The expression that rested on his face when his countrymen laughed and joked him could only be equaled in comicality by the look of surprise that must have overcome him when the retreat he supposed was secure rose in sudden violence by the explosion of several pounds of dynamite."—Utica Observer.

About Coloring Vinegar.

By the way, there seems to be a great amount of misunderstanding and misinformation prevalent regarding vinegar. It has been solemnly decreed by the legislature that no more shall coloring matter be added to the ordinary white, distilled vinegar of the market. Now, the coloring material used in giving the article the required shade was nothing but burnt sugar, therefore entirely harmless.

This same white vinegar is simply regularly distilled low wine—that is, there is a very small per cent. of alcohol in it—which has been fermented by the action on it of the air while it is spread out for the purpose in a vessel containing beech shavings. This kind of shavings is used because such wood is tasteless and does not color the liquid. Vinegar thus manufactured is entirely wholesome and sufficiently palatable.

Cider vinegar, I believe, as a rule, to be very impure, and consequently liable to prove very detrimental to the consumer's health. I would not think of using it unless I had had the making of it directly under my supervision. Nearly all the cider vinegar of the market is made from apples that are decayed, worm eaten or otherwise rendered unfit for market.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Development of the Skull.

Dr. Dight, professor of anatomy in the American college at Beirut, Syria, gives some very interesting results of his examination of a collection of human skulls which are stored away in an old monastery in the Kedron valley, midway between Jerusalem and the Dead sea. He has made a careful comparison of these skulls with those of the same race at the present day, and finds some significant differences. The Caucasian skull has during the last thirteen centuries increased in circumference nearly two inches, and has gained considerable in cranial capacity. There has been no increase in width. The brain has gained in height and width—i. e., there has been a development of the upper and anterior parts of the brain, the parts which we should expect to increase by education and civilization, as they preside over the moral and intellectual functions. The lower portions of the brain, in which the lower or more selfish propensities are centered, and which give breadth to the head, have, in the march of the centuries, failed to grow as rapidly as the higher brain centers, hence the non-increase in the width of our skulls.—Chicago Times.

Blake's Hens.

There used to live in Waldo county, Me., an itinerant shoemaker named Blake, who never lived in any house over three months at a time, and was on the go so much that his acquaintances called him "Moving Blake." In addition to a large family of boys and girls, he was always accompanied by a flock of faithful hens that went with him from place to place.

It is asserted on good church going authority that these hens became so used to moving that when they saw the shoemaker's scanty furniture coming out of the house, they would walk up to the door, throw themselves flat on their backs and, crossing their legs, would lie there until Blake came out and tied them together with a string. More than a dozen reputable residents of Frankfort, Prospect, Stockton and Searsport can vouch for the remarkable intelligence of Blake's hens.—Boston Globe.

You should read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because you have the time to read it. There is a paper published in Australia which is as large as a blanket. This wouldn't suit you. You want a newspaper at once convenient, complete and condensed, and still you don't want to overlook anything of real importance. You don't want your neighbor to say to you, "Did you read so-and-so in to-day's paper?" and be obliged to answer, "No, I didn't see that," and then have him ask you, "What paper do you read?" This will never happen to you if you will read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

The Latest New York Story.
 The latest beggarly vagary comes from New York, of course, where a party coming from the theatre was stopped by a ragged individual with a small kitten in his arms. He opened the conversation immediately and said:
 "Gents, maybe you think I am going to spar you for money, but I ain't. I am not hungry or thirsty and have a place to sleep, but I have no cash. I want a few pennies, not for myself, but to buy some milk for this poor little starving cat, which I found crying in this park."

The party was for a moment stunned, but amid roars of laughter a purse of nearly a dollar was collected and given to the guardian of the kitten.

Three Important Appointments Made by President Harrison.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 22.—The president has appointed John L. Stevens, of Maine, to be minister resident to the Hawaiian islands; George Maney, of Tennessee, to be minister resident to Paraguay and Uruguay, and John Martin Crawford, of Ohio, to be consul general to St. Petersburg. John L. Stevens is one of the most prominent of Maine Republicans and has held important positions under United States and the state of Maine. During Grant's administration he was minister to Paraguay and Uruguay, and under President Hayes he was transferred and appointed minister to Sweden and Norway. He has served in the Maine legislature and has held local offices. Gen. Maney was appointed minister to the republic of Columbia by President Garfield. He has been prominent in Republican circles in Tennessee and was chairman of the Tennessee delegation at the last Chicago convention. Professor Crawford's appointment is looked on more as a recognition of scholarship than as a reward for party services. He is an author of some note and has just published a translation of the national epic of Finland.

Consuls Appointed.
WASHINGTON CITY, June 21.—The president yesterday made the following consular appointments: Oliver H. Simons, of Colorado, consul to Hong Kong; William Monaghan, of Ohio, consul to Changhai, Ont.; William T. Rice, of Massachusetts, consul to Leghorn; Lyell T. Adams, of New York, consul to Horgens, Switzerland; Henry W. Diederich, of Indiana, consul to Nuremberg; Edmund J. Hemmick, of Pennsylvania, consul to Geneva; Oliver H. Simons was last week nominated to St. Petersburg. He is transferred to Hong Kong with his own consent. Henry W. Diederich is a resident of Fort Wayne, Ind., and a native born citizen of Germany. He is president of the Concordia Lutheran college, a man of many attainments and a ripe scholar. He is well known politically.

More Consulates Filled.
WASHINGTON CITY, June 22.—The president has appointed Frank Mason, of Ohio, to be consul general at Frankfurt; Charles B. Trail, of Maryland, consul at Marseilles, and H. G. ## IDENTIFIED BY MARTINSON

The Express Driver Picks Burke Out as One of the Cronin Assassins.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 21.—The link connecting Martin Burke with the Cronin murder was completely established last evening when Martinson, the expressman who hauled the furniture to Carlson's cottage, and who arrived here yesterday, identified Burke among fifty-two prisoners and citizens who stood in a semi-circle in the jail yard. The identification was complete and beyond all doubt. Martinson walked before the men and picked out his man at the first glance. Chief Hubbard, of Chicago, has been notified to this effect. Burke stood the ordeal well; he never flinched, and maintained the same stolid demeanor that has characterized his actions since his arrest. Chief McRae says Burke's intellect is dull and that he is not capable of showing any feeling.

Burke Was Number Twenty.
 When Martinson passed down the line Burke stood twentieth, with his hands in his pockets and his eyes averted. Martinson glanced quickly into his face, marked his number on a slip of paper, and passed on examining the faces of other men. After completing the investigation he returned to where the officers and counsel were standing and held a whispered conversation. Counsel Howell was heard to remark: "We are satisfied. We will not wait anybody else to identify the prisoner; but be positive of the number."

The Prisoner Arraigned.
 Burke was arraigned before Judge Bain under the extradition act yesterday morning. The case was postponed until Wednesday next at the request of counsel for the prosecution, who desired to have time to bring witnesses from Chicago. The evidence adduced before the Chicago grand jury will be submitted here.

RHODE ISLAND VOTES "WET."

The Prohibitory Amendment Repealed by a Large Majority.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 21.—In the spring of 1889 the people of the state adopted a constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture or sale in the state of intoxicating liquors. The "wet" men have carried on a vigorous campaign for its repeal, and at the last session of the legislature another amendment was ordered submitted to the people repealing the prohibitory amendment. The election on the question took place yesterday, and considering the difference in the vote of the two states, the "dry" men got a worse defeat than they did in Pennsylvania.

Comparison of the Vote.
 By the constitution it required a three-fifths vote to repeal the amendment, and the result is nearly a three-fourths vote for repeal. The total vote was 28,499 for repeal of the amendment and 9,857 against repeal. The amendment is therefore repealed by 5,469 more than the required three-fifths of the total vote. The amendment was adopted in 1886 by a vote of 15,113 to 9,239. The vote in this city was 11,019 for repeal, 2,940 against repeal. Pawtucket voted 2,057 for and 710 against repeal. The official announcement of the vote will be made some time between July 15, when the official count must be completed, and July 20.

MRS. HAYES PARALYZED.
 The ex-President's wife stricken with the Dread Disease—Simond Cameron Skelton.
CLEVELAND, O., June 21.—A special from Fremont, O., states that Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes, wife of the ex-president, was yesterday afternoon stricken with paralysis. Her entire right side is affected, and at 9 p. m. she had not recovered consciousness. Gen. Hayes was in Columbus, but arrived home at 5 o'clock in the evening. The other members of the family have been telegraphed for.

OPTICIAN.

is a graduate of a regular Eye College, and has received his diploma from the same; gives special attention to the correction of defects of the Eye, by the use of spectacles.

CAUTION.

I present a likeness of myself above for the purpose of protecting the public against fraud and humbug. For about fourteen years peddlers and tramps have been going over the country and representing themselves as being me or my agent, and swindling the people out of their money, and causing many to nearly go blind by selling them cheap spectacles. I wish to say that I never travel, neither do I have any agents. I have all that I can attend to at my office in Greencastle, and hereafter whenever one of the above described tramps or peddlers presents himself just refer to the above picture and you will see at a glance that it is not me. I wish further to warn you against buying spectacles of parties as described above. They do not sell anything except cheap magnifying glasses made of window glass, and by using such glasses a short time all the muscles of the eye become paralyzed, after which, if the vision is not destroyed entirely, it is so damaged that a person may about as well be totally blind. Hundreds of such cases have come to me for glasses within twelve months, but all I can do is to turn them away, as I cannot restore vision after a person is once blind. Now you might say that it would cost too much to get glasses of me. There is where you make a mistake. My prices are lower than you would have to pay tramps or peddlers as described above. Why? Because I fit up and sell so many spectacles that I can afford to sell at very low prices. For instance, I sell and fit to the eyes without cost, except for the spectacles:

Steel Frame, Good Glasses.....	$ .30
Steel Frame, Extra Good Glasses.....	$1.00
Steel Frame, Fine Glasses.....	$2.00
Silver Frame, Fine Glasses.....	$2.00
Gold Frame, Fine Glasses.....	$4.00

and all other styles in proportion.

Now, after offering you all the inducements I have, can you not see that it would pay you to come to Greencastle, even if you have to travel forty miles, and need nothing more than a pair of spectacles.

Inconsistent Man.

It is all nonsense to tell women not to "make up." They will do it, and we must confess that some are positively repulsive mostly because they endeavor to do away entirely with all the dainty accessories so necessary to a charming and attractive toilet. The trouble is that so many silly women in their anxiety for self improvement overreach the mark which divides refined elegance from grotesque vulgarity. The fault lies not so much in the use of some one or more articles to improve defects, but the way in which they are used. Ah! the men are so fearfully inconsistent. That is the trouble.

How often they are heard to declare, in terms most emphatic, that woman's greatest charm is in being perfectly natural. Now watch them, please, when introduced to a fascinating bit of femininity. Do they stop to study up cause and effects to find just what has given that tinge of color to the pretty white cheek, to inquire why the eyes look so dark and brilliant as they dance and sparkle beneath the curly, fluffy bang? Of course not. The inconsistent creature, man, realizes but one thing. The girl is lovely, and he who is so ready to condemn is also the first to admire. The cute little woman laughs in her sleeve and goes on her way rejoicing, feeling quite repaid for the extra attention given to her skillful and artistic make up.—New York Star.

A Doctor's Mishap.

A somewhat amusing incident lately happened to a person who tried to bring a man out of an epileptic paroxysm by pouring cold water into his mouth and upon his neck. After a slight struggle, according to the account, the epileptic sank back apparently dead, whereupon the manipulator of the water became intensely anxious, and placed his ear at the mouth of the patient, who straightway caught the water between his teeth and proceeded to chew it until "its beauty had vanished." An arrest on a charge of mayhem followed the epileptic's return to consciousness; but a police justice discharged the prisoner, on the ground that he was not responsible for what he had done while in a fit.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Friends of the Family.

Professor Sylvester, who came from England to be professor of mathematics at Johns Hopkins university, is absent minded. Calling on friends in Baltimore, he inspected the pictures on the parlor walls, and coming to two striking looking ones, asked who they were.

"George and Martha Washington." "Ah, friends of the family, I suppose."

Afterward he remembered that there was a Father of his Country, and apologized.—Chicago Herald.

Superstition of Office Seekers.

There is a good deal of superstition in connection with office seeking. One of the most energetic and strongly indorsed office seekers carries a real rabbit foot in his pocket. He calls it a "graveyard rabbit foot." It is an ordinary "cotton tail's" foot, of light gray color, and around it is tied a pretty little pink ribbon. This man is strong of mind and young of years, yet he declares that if he were to lose this rabbit foot he would not achieve success in his ambition.—Cor. Indianapolis Journal.

Spontaneous Combustion.

A well attested case of spontaneous combustion is reported at Farmington. A gentleman in that town found a fire burning on an empty flour barrel in his stable, one evening. It started in rags used in oiling the dining room floor that afternoon and placed on a washboard on top of the barrel. These rags ignited spontaneously and the fire burned through the washboard and was working on the barrel when discovered. Spontaneous combustion is more than a bugbear.—Leviston Journal.

REMARKABLE COINCIDENCES.

Parallels in the Lives of Shakespeare and Mr. Halliwell-Phillips.

I know with what a keen interest Americans took in my uncle, the late Mr. Halliwell-Phillips, and in his Shakespearean work, and also in Hollingbury Copse—that American Mecca—and I am fully aware how proud he was to number among his friends many of the leading American literary men. Some few years ago he, in merry mood, compiled "a list of a few parallel circumstances in the lives of Shakespeare and Mr. J. O. Halliwell-Phillips," and upon rare occasions they would be produced after dinner and read amid shrieks of laughter, in which he himself would join most of a truth most remarkable, and heartily. The thirty-three parallels they are all perfectly true, and not concocted in any way; to my mind one of the most extraordinary is that his eldest daughter "married a gentleman by the name of Hall, Lieut. Hall, R. N., my co-executor."

I send you by this post a copy of the list, and if you care to print it, you are perfectly welcome to do so.

1. He was descended from very small country farmers. So am I.

2. With no pretensions to an aristocratic pedigree. Neither have I.

3. Nor with any really good claim to the use of coat armor. Neither have I.

4. But he purchased a grant of arms from the Herald's college. So have I.

5. His father, not being satisfied with the poverty of his rural life, left the country and commenced business in a town as a glover. So did mine.

6. But he soon got tired of that occupation and commenced speculating with house property. So did mine.

7. His father had a chancery suit respecting a small estate. So had mine.

8. The chancery suit in which his father was plaintiff lasted for nearly twenty years. So did the chancery suit in which my father was plaintiff.

9. He went to school to so little purpose that he learned little Latin and less Greek. So did I.

10. He married very early in life. So did I.

11. And without a sixpence on either side. So did I.

12. He obtained his marriage license at Worcester in a great hurry and in the midst of family disagreements. So did I.

13. He was persecuted by Sir Thomas, a country squire. So was I.

14. He was persecuted because he took a fancy to Sir Thomas' deer (deer). So was I.

15. He was a great admirer of the fair sex. So am I.

16. He purchased the estate of New Place at Stratford-on-Avon. So did I.

17. He sold a load of stone out of the gardens there. So did I.

18. The husband of his second daughter was remotely connected with a yeoman of the name of William Phillips. So is the husband of my second daughter.

19. A person of the name of William Phillips owned property adjoining the grounds of Shakespeare's country house. An individual of the same name owns land adjoining the grounds of my country house.

20. Shakespeare at one time of his life was peculiarly interested in a theatre. So was I.

21. The theatre in which he was interested was destroyed. So was mine.

22. There was a shoemaker by the name of Shakespeare living near his country house. So there is near mine.

23. He owned during part of his life a house in London, a lease of which was granted to Mr. John Robinson. So did I.

24. He bought a moiety of some tithes. So did I.

25. In the course of his literary career there appeared "Much Ado About Nothing." So there has in mine.

26. He sometimes went to the Mitre tavern in Fleet street. So did I.

27. In his journeys between London and Stratford-on-Avon he occasionally stayed a night at Oxford. So did I.

28. He negotiated for the purchase of a small estate at Shottery. So did I.

29. He sometimes drank a little too much at a merry meeting. So did I.

30. He bought one house in London. So have I.

31. One of his friends wanted to borrow £20 of him. So has one of mine.

32. His eldest daughter married a gentleman by the name of Hall. So did mine.

The chief difference between us in our respective careers appears to be that he knew how to write plays and I don't.—Earnest E. Baker in Boston Herald.

Lost Time on Short Days.

She was a humble waiting maid in Oakland. Oakland is the Athens of California, and the ah, there of San Francisco. She waited upon an Athenian table and cooked Athenian steaks for Athenian appetites. She was not at all lost. She had relatives in San Francisco, and she visited them on her off day. It is one long off day in Oakland.

It had been her custom of a forenoon for many months to make this little pilgrimage, and winter approached and the sun rose later and set earlier, in accordance with the rules of the celestial trades union. One day a couple of weeks ago she went to her mistress.

"Please, ma'am, you'll have to let me go an hour earlier now."

"Why?"

"Because, ma'am, I've got to go over to the city, and, you know, ma'am, the days are so short now that I loose more than an hour."—San Francisco Chronicle.

What Londoners Consume.

Taking all London's food together—the fish, the meat, the poultry, the vegetables, the fruit, the groceries and the bread—and it shows an annual consumption of close on a million and a half tons a year. Adding to this the drink—excluding the water—and divided by 365, we have a daily consumption of 5,800 tons.—New York Telegram.

THE RECONCILIATION.

Two urchins strolling on the beach,
Beside the tranquil sea,
Beheld a pearly block, and each
Cried, "That belongs to me!"
And both at once with eager hands,
Began to scramble in the sands.

Like alabaster pure and white,
Upon the pebbled shore,
That treasure lay, a lovely sight,
And well worth fighting o'er;
Long struggled the contending twain
The prize so coveted to gain.

Lo, while they strove, a stranger tall,
Strode quickly to the spot,
He stooped beside the champions small,
And took the prize, I wot;—
Then spoke in solemn voice and slow,
"Ye both are richer than you know."

Then with a string he did divide
That precious cake, and smiled;
"Tis Ivory Soap, share it with pride;
My lads, be reconciled!"
Each took his half and went his way,
Oh, rich and happy boys were they.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

SAVED—A fine family of children were all afflicted with scrofula. Two died early; the rest would soon have followed, but for the timely and persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which built them up into a healthy and vigorous manhood.

Rev. H. H. Fairall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says editorially, in the November (1883) number of his paper: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that, by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly."
